

Lorne Street PS - Edinburgh

1. Have you used any of the Drama Literacy lessons with your class?

5 Responses

ID ↑	Name	Responses
1	Jennifer Thompson	Yes
2	Mhairi Ferguson	Yes
3	Kate Hutchison	Yes
4	Dean Kimmet	Yes
5	Mairead Quigley	Yes

2. What has been good about the lessons? Consider the delivery of the Drama curriculum, your own professional learning, the potential impact on writing, the enjoyment & motivation of the children, among other thoughts...

5 Responses

ID ↑	Name	Responses
1	Jennifer Thompson	Children were engaged and produced great ideas based on the examples they saw.
2	Mhairi Ferguson	Progression throughout lesson - starts simple and adds more skill with each section of the lesson. Learners were immediately motivated and engaged (found the facial expressions funny and enjoyable). Sparked learners imagination - started miming some really detailed story lines where children were able to describe very specific situations (helped learners to describe actions which could be useful for writing).
3	Kate Hutchison	Drama is definitely something I would like to up skill myself in. I think this would really help, as it breaks down different aspects in drama. The class responded very well to this. They understood the routine and encouraged groups skills. There was lots of discussion that was accessible to all. I have not yet applied this to writing but I think it could provide a great context.
4	Dean Kimmet	Well structured and good for application of skills.
5	Mairead Quigley	It was really clear and the class loved it and found it easy to follow. We were also able to adapt the ideas to our Literacy work in class and class novel study.

3. What are the limitations of the lessons?

5 Responses

ID ↑	Name	Responses
1	Jennifer Thompson	So far we have been ok in the classroom but we were held up by slow internet connection which hampered the children's concentration.
2	Mhairi Ferguson	Virtual - would perhaps be extra special for specialists to visit (understand it is not possible due to current restrictions).
3	Kate Hutchison	The only thing that I did not quite expect was the time that it took but that is probably me just getting used to the programme.
4	Dean Kimmet	Feedback from course leaders due to video format
5	Mairead Quigley	At times the videos took a long time to get through. Each video was about a full lesson.

4. Do you think you might use lessons similar to these, created for your year group, if we were to purchase them for next session?

More Details

- Yes 5
- No 0
- Maybe 0

