

Julie and Louise scouted me out at a Halloween party, of all places, when I was around 8 and from there I haven't looked back. Drama took over my life when I was at school and it led me to do what I am doing now, filmmaking. I got so much more than just acting skills out of every week; friendships, confidence, encouragement, motivation and most importantly fun. Without the Drama Studio, I definitely wouldn't be the person I am today. I'm now filming my own dramas at Edinburgh College of Art and to have such a great institution as the Drama Studio behind me is reassuring, as well as being a fantastic resource of upcoming local talent!
