

During my time at the Drama Studio I got to play a VERY wide variety of characters; one show I was a wild west Sheriff and another I was the Devil himself. (I got to own a funfair in that one too which was strange....) That was partly what was so fun about it; we were always able to try out something new. We were often heavily involved in the plot too - plenty of times we would come up with new ideas and characters that would end up in the show. Most importantly a great time was had by all.

Many thanks to Julie for giving me these great opportunities, and I wish her and the Drama Studio another 20 years of success - I am sure future students will have just as much fun as I did .

Rory Hand

Rory studied at Telford and is going to Napier to do Electrical Engineering